

Please leave Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law alone. My phone used to ring 10-12x per day with calls from unwanted telemarketers. Since I signed up for the no-call list, I have been relieved to find that I only get calls from people I wish to speak with. I DO NOT want to go back to fielding unwanted calls from solicitors during my few precious hours of "down-time" per evening. This is an issue that should be regulated by the STATE, not by the FCC. Because signing up for the no-call list in Indiana is optional; those residents of the state who wish to continue receiving solicitor calls can opt to do so. Thank you.
